Barnes Victory Expected.

Barnes' victory in the Western open tournament, held recently over the course of the Mayfield Country Club at Cleveland, was hardly a surprise. He had trailed Hagen at Brae Burn, but did not take part in the Mctro-Shore, when Hagen scored his second victory within a short time, However, Barnes had been playing such wonderful golf since the Brae Burn tournament that many picked him to win at Cleveland.

He did win, and quite decisively, when his work is compared with that of Hagen. Barnes set a new course record with a 50, and equaled the world's record for an open tournament with 283 for the seventy-two holes. He led from the opening round and came through handsomely in the final nine holes when crowded a bit by Leo Diegel of Detroit. He needed 26 to win and he finished in 3.

August 2.—William Woodward's Belair stud, which is domiciled in Prince George's County, Maryland, not many miles from the Bowie race track, will be the first breeding establishment of the Old Line State, where racing flourishes on a scale that is only approached in the United States in Kentucky, to send thoroughbred yearlings to the Eastern sales in a quarter of a century.

Mr. Woodward, a New York broker and a keen student of thoroughbred bloodlines, took up production on a considerable scale about three years back and naturally, he placed his studed on an estate that has been in the Woodward family for many years. Belair is situated in a good grass country, and it is the show place of Southern Maryland. Its first important contribution to racing was the colt, Lion d'Or, a son of Heno and Alle d'Or, and a two-year-old stake winner, last season. Pastella and one or two other winners had come from Belair ahead of Lion d'Or, Lion d'Or probably would be one of the most considerable three-year-old winners of the current season if he had not bowed a tendon last fall.

The stallion Mr. Woodward is exito I. out, third. Time, (1st)es), 30 to 1, 3 to 1. out, third. Time, (1st)es). Only three starters.

Time, 1:67 2-5. Edith K., Master Bill, Brynhild, Smite, Midlan, Hackamore, Link Boy also ran.

season if he had not bowed a tendon last fall.

The stallion Mr. Woodward is exploiting at Belair is Heno, which will be remembered by racing folk as a brilliant performer at all distances some sixteen or seventeen years ago, more recently as the sire of The Turk and He Will. Among the yearlings that will be offered by Mr. Woodward at Saratoga will be six sons and daughters of Heno from the mares Aile d'Or. Pastora. Genesco, Kilcrea. Russian Sable and Stellata. The Aile d'Or. a stalwart chestnut, is an own brother of Lion d'Or. Russian Sable, a sister of Ornament, will be represented by a bay filly. Kilcrea, a daughter of Stalwart and Antiope, she by Amphion, will be represented by a bay filly. Genesco, a daughter of Onondaga and the dam of many winners, will be represented by a chestnut filly.

The Desert, an imported son of Black Sand and Parthenis, which won the first race of the Pimlico spring meeting, was foaled and raised at Belair. He will have a half-brother in the coming sale which claims Durbar, the Parthenis, dam of The Desert and of this Derby winner. British Derby winner of 1914, for sire.
Parthenis, dam of The Desert and of this Durbar colt, is a French-bred daughter of Ajax. Durbar will have another yearling in the sale, a filly from Mousse des Bois, a daughter of Ajax. Celt will be represented by a black filly from Springfoin, a daughter of Aainfoin.

FAT PURSES FOR BOUTS NOW AMAZE OLD-TIMERS

Only $800 shows the pitifur size of purses in the way-back days when compared with those of now when even the mediocre battlers earn as much in a night as some of the great ones of the past earned in a dozen battles.

"My total earnings in the ring and on the stage during the years that f was an active boxer were $227,000."

O'Brien told me a short while ago. Of that sum about $40,000 came through theatrical engagements and the rest in purses, which meant an average of about $800 per fight.

"The most money I ever got for a single battle was $8,921.50. That was my share for the encounter with Stanley Ketchell in New York in 1909. In a later engagement with the middle-weight champion, staged in Philadelphia, I got $4,700.

"When I knocked out Bob Fitzsimmons on December 20, 1905, in San Francisco, I drew down $7,200. Those were the top purses for me."

I am citing the case of O'Brien, not because he is an exception to the general rule, but because his is an excellent illustration of the difference between ring carnings of the present day and those of the past. Fifteen and twenty years ago men battled—and gladly—for ten rounds, twenty rounds, or to a finish for purses that the ordinary fighters of today scoff at and incredy term "clgarette money."—Copy-right, 1919.

Internal Revenue Authorities Put End to Speculation on Red-Glants Game Pasteboards. By Associated Press. 1

CINCINNATI, August 2.—Federal internal revenue authorities have put a sudden stop to the high cost of tickets to the Cincinnati-New York baseball series, which began here today. Several days ago it became apparent that a large number of tickets were in the hands of speculators, and the government immediately issued a statement that these speculators would have to pay the war tax or be arrested.

The announcement created something approaching a panic in the minds of speculators, with the result that the ticket prices drifted downward as the hour for the beginning of today's game drew near, and a large number of the speculators notified the government that they would file their returns.

While the law gives them.

While the law gives them one month in which to do this, the internal revenue officers are demanding that it be done immediately, saying that "these men may be far away when the time limit expires."

Wolffe to Try Channel Swim.

Jabez Wolffe will make his twentysecond attempt to swim the English Channel sooon. He is now in training for the fest, which he says he is confident he will accomplish this time. Before breakfast, he cycles ten miles, before lunch he has a five-mile swim, and after lunch he takes a five-mile walk, followed by an hour's rowing.
He will go to Dover to finish his training, and intends to attempt the crossing as soon as the weather is favorable.

Serious Charges at Empire City Proved to Be Exaggerated.

Umpire Seriously Injured.

A fan threw a pop bottle during a game between Bloomington and Evansville a few days ago and it struck Umpire Frank Roth on the head. The umpire was injured so severely that for a time it was thought that he might not recover. Roth was taken to Chicago for special treatment, as it was feared that he had a blood clot on the brain. The accident caused great indignation, as Roth formerly played at Evansville and was popular with the fans. The bottle thrower escaped, but an effort is being made to discover his identity and prosecute him.
